Hi Roy,

No problem at all.

Essentially, I am trying to get some background on when these tests began and why. I only started covering this around January. So I am missing some pieces, which are critical to me writing up the story.

Was there a medical issue that was brought to your attention from contaminated water?

Which specific drilling activity at Dimock of Cabot's was the EPA zoning in on? Location of the gas drilling/producing facility? Is this operation still proceeding or has it been suspended?

So far has the EPA fined Cabot at all ?

When does your first water sampling date back to?

Since then how many tests have you conducted?

I do recall that the January 19 statement indicated that there was a link, but now it appears that your most recent tests show that the water supply is fine, that it does not have any contamination.

Your prompt response would be greatly appreciated.

Best regards,
